

LOCAL GATHERINGS

—Fred Tilton who was sentenced in Caledonia County court to not less than two nor more than five years at Windsor for larceny has been taken to the State Insane hospital at Waterbury for observation. He showed signs of insanity soon after going there on July 11.

—The Don't Worry club met with Mrs. Harvey Morrison Wednesday afternoon. The past few meetings the club have taken up study of countries. An interesting paper on description of Norway and celebrated people and travel was read by Mrs. Mabel Morrison. Also a paper on Sweden written by Mrs. Homer Carpenter and read by Mrs. Harvey Morrison. Four new members recently joined, Mrs. Will McFarlin, Mrs. Conkey, Mrs. Herbert Moffett, and Mrs. George Chamberlin. The club have held their annual picnic in June and there was a good attendance. The afternoon was spent in sports of varied kinds and bountiful refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Herbert Moffett on Aug. 28. Important business to be transacted. A good attendance is desired.

—Mrs. Patrick O'Malley has sold her house on Mt. Vernon street to Ernest Flood.

—One of the busiest spots in town last week aside from the Pageant grounds, was the campus, where the local team entertained teams from Danville, Lyndonville and the colored giants from Philadelphia. With the native teams St. Johnsbury ran a strong favorite landing the Danville game by the score of 7 to 3, and the Lyndonville game 5 to 3, but when opposed to the negroes the tables were turned. Without exciting themselves the visitors won 11 to 0. Large crowds were in attendance and the treasury was materially helped.

—Co. D, 1st Inf., V. N. G., returned Monday from the big war game which was in progress in Connecticut all last week. The Vermont troops were in the blue army which defended New York City against the invading red forces and were in two engagements. In the first the issue was decided against them as they failed to reach a bridge in time to hold against the Maine troops. In the final movement in which all the troops were engaged three regiments in which the 1st Vermont was included held off five red regiments and Co. D alone held a strategic point against an entire regiment until the end of hostilities. In the popular opinion the Red army was accorded the victory in the big game. Only three of Co. D were sent home because of physical disability which is considered remarkable considering the number of heat prostrations recorded during the maneuvers.

—The parish tea of St. Andrew's church will be held Thursday afternoon from three to five o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. A. Cramton, 100 Main street.

—The Grace Unity club will meet with Mrs. G. R. Bollinger, Summer street, Friday evening at 7.30.

—Advertised letters: Ladies: Denning, Mrs. Jack; Dixon, Mrs. Jennie; Meany, Miss N.; Gentlemen: Bennett; Fred A.; Blake, L. M.; Demming, B. F.; Dunlase, Fred; Elliot, D. S.; King, J. P. K.

—A good number of the members of Apollo Lodge are in Burlington attending the annual gathering of the Knights of Pythias.

—Percival & Silsby, Vermont agents for Essexday, have purchased the building on Railroad street formerly occupied by William McNeil as a livery stable. The new proprietors have taken possession and are on the ground floor for their business.

At the prohibition caucus last evening, Walter C. Rodliff was nominated for town representative, and the following town committee was chosen: Chairman, Rev. E. E. Phillips; vice chairman, George F. Chamberlain; secretary, Charles G. Moulton, and treasurer, Walter C. Rodliff.

In the Civil War episode at next Saturday's Pageant Mr. Stone will read the original telegrams received by his grandfather from the Secretary of War and which have been preserved in the family for 50 years. The telegram calling for the 1st Vermont reached here April 15, 1861 the day after Fort Sumter surrendered, and the call for the Third Vermont came on the July following.

All those having historical costumes from the collection made by the committee are requested to return them to the Athenaeum hall on Tuesday, Aug. 27, between the hours of two and 5.30.

Ensilage cutter repairs, both chain and bore cutters, also belting and extras. A. E. COUNSELL & SON.

RECENT DEATHS.

Hunt

Mrs. A. C. Hunt of Spaulding Neighborhood died Wednesday morning, Aug. 14, after an illness of about four months, which she bore with the greatest of fortitude, cheerfulness and patience. Her sunny disposition and rare qualities will long be remembered by those who knew her best. Her love and devotion to her husband was unbounded, wishing always to be with him in joy or sorrow. Kind-hearted she was; always willing to help others in their time of trouble. Chattie Gannon was born at Walden, Dec. 12, 1863, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gannon. She was united in marriage to A. C. Hunt of Spaulding Neighborhood on Oct. 11, 1887, where she lived the rest of her life. Besides her husband, she leaves three sisters, Mrs. A. H. Harvey, Mrs. C. A. Hubbard, Mrs. F. J. Ayers. The funeral was held at her late home Friday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. E. E. Grant, pastor of the Congregational church at East St. Johnsbury officiating. The bearers were Messrs A. H. Harvey, C. A. Hubbard, L. B. Spaulding, M. J. Hovey and A. C. Underwood. The singing was by the male quartet of St. Johnsbury. The flowers were made and beautiful. Interment was at Grove cemetery, East St. Johnsbury.

AMUSEMENTS

Julie Ring in "The Yankee Girl"

Thursday Evening

Julie Ring and a big singing company will appear at The Colonial Thursday, Aug. 22 in a successful musical comedy entitled "The Yankee Girl," by George V. Hobart and Silvio Hein. Miss Ring has a number of songs to sing, "Top of the Morning" and "Louisiana Elizabeth," are her best melodies. Charles J. Winniger, the inimitable comedian, has a part that allows him to give free rein to his tongue German dialect. In the cast are other clever players and a beauty chorus adds charm to the entertainment.

"The Red Rose" Next Monday
The sensation of New York for a whole summer, "The Red Rose" with Zoe Barnett as its stellar light, is destined to be the attraction at The Colonial on Monday night, Aug. 26th under the personal direction of John C. Fisher of "Florodora" fame. The production not long ago scored an immense hit in the "Tou Jour" theatre of Paris. "The Red Rose" is the work of Harry B. and Robert B. Smith with music by Robert Hood Bowers. The beauty of the chorus and their elaborate costumes have excited more than the usual attention in the cities visited. There are some 65 persons in the organization, including Nelson Riley, Bly Brown, Maurice Darcy, Russell Lennon, Wayne Nunn, William H. Conley, Lee H. White, Esmar Cornwell, Charlotte Philbrick, Walter H. Catlett, David Reese and others.

HIT BY AUTOMOBILE
Hazen Hyde Had Leg Broken and Was Badly Bruised

Hazen, the 12 years old son of George H. Hyde, was struck by an automobile and seriously injured Thursday about noon when he was playing with a ball on Eastern avenue just below Pearl street. Dr. V. B. Fitch, accompanied by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fitch of Moores, N. Y., were in his automobile and as the avenue was well filled with cars, the doctor was running at a very low speed. After using every effort in trying to attract the boy's attention and getting into the gutter as far as possible, the boy kept in front of the car, and before the doctor was able to stop the machine he ran over the child, breaking his right leg just above the ankle. He took him at once to Brightlook hospital and after an examination it was discovered that he was bruised about the body, arms and hands.

New Use for Spark Catchers

O. V. Hooker & Son's Thompson Improved Spark Extinguishers, originally intended for wood and refuse burning boilers is proving equally efficient when applied to straw burning threshing boilers used in the West and Canadian Northwest. Hookers have shipped these to nearly all of the states, recent shipments going to Baker, Mont., and Camp Crook, South Dakota.

27TH ANNUAL REUNION

Veterans of the Third Vermont Met at St. Johnsbury Yesterday

The 27 annual reunion of the Third Vermont Regiment was held here Tuesday with 39 members present and some 14 visitors. Dinner was served at noon by the ladies of Chamberlin Woman's Relief Corps and the address of the day was delivered by James B. Campbell. It was an inspiring talk and was much appreciated by the old soldiers present. Badges were distributed to all and a number of those present took an automobile ride to the fairground to see the marker erected last year. The death of Col. Seaver of Woodstock on July 11 was reported and remarks made in his memory. Col. S. E. Pingree of White River Junction was unable to come on account of the illness of his wife but the vice president, C. H. Woodbury, presided in his place. Officers were elected as follows: President, C. H. Woodbury; secretary and treasurer, Dr. H. C. Merrill; executive committee, Carleton Felch, Lyndon Arnold, John McDonald. No vice president was elected. It was voted to hold the next meeting here at the call of the committee.

WELLS RIVER

Great Crowd Present at The Anniversary Exercises Friday—Locals

Friday, our little village was in gala day attire in observance of the 150th anniversary of the settlement of the town of Newbury and August 16, Bennington Battle day, was a fitting day for the celebration. People began to arrive early in the morning and it was estimated that 2000 were present during the day. In the forenoon there was a band concert, a procession of a few of the descendants of revolutionary heroes and others, the first chaise driven on the Bayley-Hazen road, the "Burl" wagon, the first to be brought into Newbury, a float representing the arrival of Richard Chamberlin and family and another with surveying party with the instruments used by Surveyor Gen. James Whitelaw, loaned by the State historical society. These were followed by a company of continental soldiers in uniform. The march was to the north end of the village to the place where the dedication of the marker of the Bayley-Hazen military highway took place. The address was written by F. P. Wells of West Newbury and read by Rev. B. F. Smith of this place. After these services a picnic dinner was served free in Scott's Grove to about 1500 people. In the afternoon there was a band concert followed by an Indian scene, the arrival of the Deerfield captives, the Indians making camp and the surprise by the rescue party of continentals. This scene received well deserved applause. The Virginia reel was given by an old fashioned husking party of South Ryegate friends. A military drill given by Camp Farwell girls in a fine manner. At 7 p. m., there was a band concert; at 8 p. m., a reception to the public in Village Hall, which was well filled with those who came to greet old friends. The usual order at a reception was reversed and the townspeople were received and welcomed to their own by mostly out of town people. The "tavern," all the stores and most of the private residences were tastefully decorated with flags and bunting. The Baldwin library was headquarters for articles in use many years ago, some of them being a great curiosity to the present generation. In one window of the Deming and Clark store was displayed many ancient articles which had been in the Bailey families for years and brought to light on this occasion. Four families of Bailey descendants are residents. A. H. Bailey and family, Nelson Bailey and family, S. E. Clark and family and Mrs. Lizzie Warden and family. The whole exercises from morn till eve were interesting and will be long remembered. The committee in charge of the affair appreciate all the help given by those in and out of town and thank everyone who in any way helped to make the occasion a success, also to those who by their presence encouraged us and helped make the day pleasant and we hope all will respond to the invitation to celebrate the next 100th anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. David Stanley of Norwell, Mass., were in town last week. Mrs. Anna D. Leslie of Montpelier is the guest of Mrs. E. C. Graves.

Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Belanger and son, Harold, of Paterson, N. J., were guests at Dr. Lee's from Friday till Monday, calling on old friends who gave them a joyous reception.

Misses Mary and Genevieve Fellows were visitors of Miss Lizzie Leslie, Friday.

Mrs. Dickey who has been at Mr. Cochran's is boarding at Kimball Marshall's.

N. A. Hunter of Lynn, Mass., was in town Wednesday and went to Newbury to attend the celebration, it being a reunion of Orange and Grafton County Veterans' association. Those going from this place were Andrew Atkin, C. N. Paige, W. H. Goodwin, R. G. Brock, and J. A. George.

John Stevens, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stevens, W. H. Goodwin, Frank Lee and Charles Rogers were in St. Johnsbury Saturday to attend the Pageant.

Mrs. Spooner has recovered from her recent illness is able to be in the Corner store again.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hale were in White River Junction last week to help arrange for the meeting of the Fat Men's Club.

Miss Nellie Coy of Woodsville was the guest of Miss Leslie Friday.

Dr. and Mrs. Fletcher of Bradford were at E. D. Carpenter's Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cochran, with their daughters and husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher of Boston and Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong of Chicago went to Gloucester last week to spend several weeks at the beach.

Mrs. Harriet Butler who has been in Providence, R. I., through the winter has returned to this place and is with her daughter, Mrs. Willard Goss.

NEWBURY

Observance of the 150th Anniversary of the Town Was a Great Success

The exercises celebrating the 150th anniversary of the founding of Newbury have passed into history. The life of the town has been reviewed from its birth up to the present time. The tardy recognition of the efforts of its pioneers and the institutions they planted have been set forth in eulogy and marked in imperishable granite and bronze. The wayfarer may read the story and future generations will have a silent but present witness of the deeds of their ancestors. A part of the program for Old Home Week was the placing of four markers on the sites of the first public buildings in town and the erection by his descendants of a monument on the Common to Brigadier-General Jacob Bayley. The four markers are as follows: One on the site of the state house, one where the court house stood. These were given by the town. The descendants of Col. Thomas Johnson erected one on the spot where he built his first house, and the Oxbow Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution marked the location of the first log meeting house. The historical address and the address dedicating the state house tablet were given by Hon. Horace W. Bailey, that of the court house was written by Mr. F. P. Wells and was delivered by Rev. E. W. Sturtevant pastor of the Methodist church. These exercises were in Chadwick Hall. Those connected with Col. Thomas Johnson and the log meeting house were held in the open air before their respective tablets. Frank V. Johnson of New York City, introduced by Mrs. Louise Wheeler, great granddaughter of the Colonel, gave the address for the Johnson memorial. Masters Henry and John Keyes, sons of Hon. Henry and Frances Keyes of No. Haverhill, great great great grandsons, unveiled the tablet, while Master Sidney Johnson, aged five years, son of Ervin and Laura Johnson of Boston and youngest male descendant bearing that name unfurled above it his country's flag. Music by Nevers' band and appropriate singing by the audience led by the Daughters of the Revolution who surrounded the marker, finished the program. The procession then marched to the site of the log meeting house. This tablet was erected by the Oxbow Chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution and was draped in the flag emblem of the National Society, which was removed by Masters George Fabyan and James Hibbard, young sons of two of the chapter members. Mrs. Lucia Doe Darling, the regent, introduced Dr. F. C. Russell, who delivered an address written by Mrs. Ella Hibbard Atkinson, historian of the chapter. It was strong and able holding the large audience in closest attention to the finish. Charles H. Bayley who was to have presided at this time was detained by illness at his home in Boston. Hon. H. W. Bailey acted in his place. Kipling's "Recessional" was sung by the General's descendants, followed later by a violin solo played by Emily Silsby.

Mrs. Foster Haviland presided at the organ, immediately following these exercises came the unveiling of the monument on the Common by the great great great grandson, who lives in Wells River and bears the name of his illustrious ancestor. Surely "Children's children are the crown of old men, and the glory of the children are their fathers." The reception given by the Daughters of the American Revolution to Gov. Mead and aides was a brilliant affair. Although in town, a temporary illness compelled the governor to be absent to the disappointment of all. The historical play entitled "The Difference," written by Elizabeth Chamberlin Darling and presented by the Lend-a-Hand club brought two crowded houses on Monday and Wednesday and was a decided success. The reunion of students and soldiers brought together old associates and memories of days that are gone. Addresses were given by Gov. Mead, Rev. Joseph King and others. Wednesday a reception was given by the Oxbow Chapter to the town to dedicate the new chapter house. This is furnished with ancient and quaint belongings of our grandmothers. The many present expressed pleasure and wonder at the changes between the old times and the new.
